Extra Typical Tines (cont.) Method of Collection Definitions Left Right A. Archery - Includes compound bows, re-curve bows & long bows. (Any animal that is hunted with a bow anf fatally wounded may be dispatched by means of a modern arm.) B. Crossbow - Defined as a powerful weapon composed of a bow fixed crosswise on a wooden or synthetic stock with grooves in the stock to direct the projectile & fired by a trigger mechanism. It can be equipped with either fixed or telescopic sights. C. Compressed Air Weapon - Defined as a weapon using compressed air (rifle or handgun) that utilizes a minimum of 30 caliber ammunition, or an Airbow which meets the minimum requirement of 30 caliber ammunition by using the recommended broadhead and specially designed 26" arrow. D. Delayed Entry - Includes any trophy harvested in a prior year, but not included in the annual awards competition nor towards major awards consideration. E. Handgun - Defined by any handheld firearm with a barrel less than 16" in total length. There will be no shoulder/forearm stock attached nor stabilizer. F. Incidental Acquisition - Includes any trophy acquired through any means other than hunting in any of the other accepted categories. For example: found in a field, purchased at a garage sale, won in a poker game, etc. This method does not compete in the annual awards competition nor towards hunting slams. G. Modern Arms - Defined as all metallic cartridge firing rifles (bolt-action, lever action, etc.). These rifles utilize a self-contained metallic cartridge as a means of loading a round of ammunition. H. Primitive Arms - Defined as a firearm that does not use or shoot a center-fire cartridge, any bladed or non-projectile weapon. I. Primitive Handgun - Defined as a firearm with a barrel 16" or less and is loaded from the muzzle or front cylinder with black powder or a black powder equivalent as a propellant, uses round ball, conical lead bullet, or sabotted bullest as a projectile. There will be no shoulder stock attached. For Office Use ONLY COMMITTEE APPROVAL Paid Received Sub-Total Extra Typical Total
